The democratic party has always been consistent. It has never gone back on its record for blundering.

The Clifford murder case, of Racine, which was tried in this court, is in the assignment of cases to be argued in the supreme court at the present session. His attorney will make a desperate effort to get Clifford from behind the state prison bars.

The milk in the coconut is accounted for by the Wheeling Intelligence: "Next to Tilden, Dana is our choice. Dana is a man with a grievance. Grant wouldn't make him collector of New York, and he at once erected in his heart a monument sacred to the memory of Thomas Jefferson."

Hon. Hart B. Holton, who has been nominated for governor of Maryland by the republican state convention, is a prosperous farmer and member-elect to the next Congress from the fifth district of Maryland. If he can't be elected the republicans will have the pleasure of voting for one of the best men in the state.

The Inter Ocean has this about Dakota: "The wheat is being thrashed, the potatoes dug, the pumpkins housed, and the capital built in Dakota. The cattle are lowing on a thousand hills, and there are pianos playing in the valleys. The last spike has been driven, and railroads run through all the fertile plains. The people want a state. Will the democrats of congress say 'no' when they ask?"

The Albany Journal says: There is a world of significance in Senator Harrison's saying that the nearer a democratic politician goes to the chicken-coop the smaller his voice grows in the song of reform. The silence of the democratic platform this year, compared with the loud talk made before the tidal wave lifted them into closer proximity to the "chicken-coop," gives force to the sarcasm.

They are having some scientific testimony in the Rose Ambler murder case. On Thursday Professor White, of Yale Medical school, testified that he had made a microscopic examination of the carriage cushion belonging to Lewis, and found nothing to indicate the presence of blood. The hair found under Rose Clark's fingernail was human hair such as found on the back of a man's hand or wrist.

Mr. S. S. Cox, who has an eye on the speakership of the next house, has seen fit to put on record the following statement: "I am not as well expected to run a powder mill in hell as an honest government with an overflowing treasury." Of course, this is from a democratic point of view. When the democrats were in power, whether there was an overflowing treasury or not, they did not give the people an honest government.

CONDENSED NEWS.

Father Gavin, of Waukegan, declined the appointment to St. James' church, Chicago. It was then tendered to Father McGuire, a selection which has aroused the deepest feeling in Catholic circles.

W. M. Pierce, the defaulting treasurer of Deer Creek township, Illinois, has been sentenced to one month's imprisonment in the county jail at Pekin, and to remain there afterward until he refunds $2,422.40.

In Pittsylvania county, Virginia, in the moonlight, George Thomas and Bowman Doude settled a family trouble by fighting an impromptu duel, one having a shot-gun and the other a revolver. Doude was peppered in the face and arm.

The Pittsburgh & Western road, it is said will pass under the control of H. W. Oliver, Jr., the gentleman who cleared $400,000 by securing the Lake Erie route for Vanderbilt. Hugh J. Jewett is said to be the prime mover in the scheme.

The grand jury of St. Louis report the existence of a ring of gamblers and notorious individuals, who use money and threats to corrupt the police and other officials, and that it is the duty of Gov. Crittenden to investigate the matter.

Miss Lett Young, a resident of Brooklyn, who has spent the summer in Montreal has sued George H. Lee, acting manager of the Windsor hotel in the latter city, for $50,000 for defamation of character and for being ejected from the hotel. She was charged with stealing a diamond ring from a guest.

At 3:30 o'clock Friday morning fifty naked men, armed with sledge-hammers and crow-bars, appeared at the residence of Sheriff Kackley, at Vincennes, Indiana, and demanded the keys to the jail, in order to lynch May Warren, the murderer of James Mandery. The sheriff refused to comply with their wishes, and they threatened to return the next evening and tear down the jail. Sheriff Kackley took the prisoner to Evansville.

NOOSE NOTES.

Four Colored Men Receive the Reward of Crime.

Three of Them Swing at Chatham, Va.—Another at Savannah, Ga.—Mickening Scene—What They Were Hung For.

CHATHAM, Va., Sept. 23.—The execution of Sawney Younger, Reuben Keene and George Evans took place at 12:30 p. m. The hanging was strictly private, a detachment of the Pittsylvania guards, the jail officials, and three doctors being the only onlookers. Younger's neck was broken by the fall, but his two companions died from strangulation. The last days of the doomed men were spent in prayer. Younger protested his innocence to the "last," all exhibited the utmost indifference to the gallows. Younger and Keene smoked cigars while the nooses were being adjusted to their necks. Both said they had sent a portion of the money derived from the sale of their bodies to their sweethearts. The three men were then asked if they had anything to say. Evans replied: "I have got to die for what other people did. I don't wish the crowd, and I don't know nothing about it." King and Younger remained silent. The white caps where they placed over their heads and the trap sprung. The drop was six feet. At the end of twenty minutes the bodies were cut down and placed in pine boxes. The remains of King and Evans were turned over to a medical college. Younger was buried under the gallows.

On the morning of August 10 W. F. Sheppard was stopped on the road three miles north of this place and murdered. The deceased was a farmer who lived with his family, consisting of his wife and nine children, about ten miles from Danville. On the morning of the murder, Sheppard, accompanied by his son, a boy of 15, brought a load of tobacco to this place. He disposed of it, received the money, and was on his way home. At a point three miles south of this town three negro men halted the deceased and asked for a ride, which was declined. Sawney Younger, the youngest member of the trio, stepped up and, aiming a revolver at Sheppard, fired four times in rapid succession. One of the bullets struck the old farmer in the left side near the nipple; another made an ugly wound in the skull. Sheppard fell from his cart upon the roadside and died almost instantly. The old man's son appealed to the negroes to stop shooting and not to murder his father, but the attention was paid to these cries. As soon as Sheppard was dead, the negroes valued his dead body, another one of the gang, drew a razor from his pocket and approached the boy with the intention of killing him. The pistol-firing, however, had attracted the attention of some negro laborers at work in a neighboring field. These men then appeared on the scene and frightened the murderers away. The negroes fled down the road, and after concealing themselves in the bushes, finally made their way to Danville. The murder of Sheppard caused considerable excitement in the neighborhood, when it occurred. Officers were put on the track of the murderers, who traced them from the scene of the crime to the place where they were killed. Reuben Keene and Isaac Evans were identified by Sheppard's son as the murderers of his father. Younger, he said, was the man who fired the pistol at his father, and Evans the man who threatened to kill him (the boy) with a razor. The negroes were arrested and committed to jail for safe keeping until they could be removed to Chatham, the seat of the county. There was made that the prisoners were to be removed from the jail and lynched. On the evening of Aug. 11 a party of mounted men made their appearance on the outskirts of the town, but the fact that two military companies were guarding the prisoners prevented an attempt to lynch them.

During the past few weeks all of the doomed men spent most of their time in religious exercises. As is usual with even the worst malefactors of that race, these men appeared to think that they were martyrs and would die in a good cause. After fluting there was no hope of obtaining executive clemency, Keene and Evans last Thursday sold their bodies to a local physician. The sum of $10 was paid to the negroes in advance. As soon as the condemned men received the price agreed on, they sent to the village hotel and ordered a sumptuous dinner for two. They seemed determined to enjoy the few remaining days of their lives in good eating and drinking. Evans, who had never before tasted wine, manifested a strong predilection for that drink after receiving the price of his corpse. He obtained a large demijohn full of liquor, and with Keene, one of his companions in crime, drank freely of its contents in the past few days.

ANOTHER ONE. SAVANNAH, Sept. 23.—George Wallace was hanged here for the murder of Martin L. Janson in March, 1880. In consequence of extraordinary efforts made to save the condemned, and the fact of his alleged insanity, which was discovered by a great fraud, more than usual interest was aroused, and the particulars of the execution were eagerly sought for. Early in the morning immense crowds began to assemble about the jail, and applications for admission to the enclosure were numerous, many being strangers in the city. Some 500 obtained the coveted passes and looked around the gallows, which were erected in the northeast corner of the jail yard. At 12:15 o'clock the condemned, who had been with his spiritual advisers, was conducted from the cell to the gallows, two hundred yards distant. He walked firmly and ascended the steps without tremor. On reaching the platform, there was a displacement of a plank, causing a few inches completely bewildered the unfortunate man, and he dropped full length and lay like one dead. A cry of horror went up from the crowd. A ladder was raised, and Constable Simmons lifted the prostrate man, who seemed unconscious for some minutes. He revived, however, and stood crying out: "Look at the angel at the right of Mount Moriah, and on the left Beaz and the letter G." He addressed the crowd and protested his innocence, declaring that his conviction was a conspiracy.

PARNELL NOT SHOT AT.

The Rumor of His Assassination Wholly Baseless.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—Parnell has arrived at Leeds. He has been in England for some time. The report of his murder by Orangemen was wholly baseless.

Lincoln and Bruce for 1884.

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 29.—The suggestion made by Fred Douglas at the Louisville convention that a negro should be put on the ticket for vice-president in 1884, or at least appointed to a place in the next administration, was not made at Laphams. For some time there has been a Bruce boom in the colored newspapers, and among colored politicians the favorite ticket is Lincoln and Bruce, which they claim will sweep every southern state.

BUSINESS REVIEW.

Dun & Co. on the Situation.—The Week's Failures.

New York, Sept. 29.—R. G. Dun & Co. report that the marked events of the past week are chiefly relating to the clothing trade, which have occurred in New York city. These misfortunes can hardly be interpreted as indicating an unhealthy state of trade generally, because they are all more or less directly traceable to departures from legitimate business principles, the results of outside speculation, and an attempt to bolster up credit by the inter-charge of paper long after the supposed capital employed had disappeared or had been diverted into outside channels. The regular business of the city has been healthy. The sales of dry goods have been large, the absorption of stocks indicating a brisk retail demand throughout the country. Some large houses report their sales as being nearly equal to those of a year ago, while the losses by bad debts, aside from those arising out of the recent failures, are remarkably small. Money continues abundant. Although confidence has been to some extent shaken by the recent failures, the general outlook is not unfavorable. The grain markets have been active without any wild fluctuations, and of late there has been an increased demand for export. In pork and provisions the market has been unsettled, but a better feeling prevails, and prices, as a rule, are somewhat higher.

There were 164 failures in the United States reported during the past week—13 less than the preceding week, 9 less than the corresponding week of 1882, and 52 more than the same week of 1881. Compared with the previous week the middle states had a decrease of 7; New England states 21; a decrease of 13; southern states 23; an increase of 2; western states 50; a decrease of 2; Pacific states and territories 20; on increase of 7; Canada and the provinces 31, an increase of 5.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

Lizzie S. Makes Fast Time at Louisville.—The Base Ball Players. BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 29.—Miss Lizzie Laughaunt won the 1/4 mile in 1:18. Paugh-a-Ballagh won the mile in 1:45. Lilly Dale won the 1/4 mile in 1:57. Grotto won the 1/4 mile in 2:00. Joe Murray won the 1/4 mile in 2:02. In 1:30. Dubcock won the 1/4 mile in 1:32.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 29.—Lizzie S. won the 1/4 mile in two heats of 1:18, 1:18. Blazo won the 1/4 mile in 1:18. Phallus was attached to the track for an infringement of patent on articles, and J. L. S. would have been taken to New York.

BASE BALL. CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—The league base ball playing resulted: Philadelphia 1, Chicago 7; Boston 6, Cleveland 2; Providence 5, Buffalo 3; New York 2, Detroit 7; game was at eight innings when called on account of darkness. Other games: Athletics 7, Louisville 6.

The championship of the National Base Ball league for the year 1883 is virtually decided in favor of the Boston club, they having won sixty games, with only two more to play, while Chicago and Providence have each won fifty-seven, Cleveland fifty-six, with only two more games for each to play.

FAST ROWING. PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 29.—In the regatta on the Hulton course, George Hosmer, of Boston, beat the world's time, making three miles in 23:30, with Ten Eyck only ten seconds behind.

BOLD EXPRESS ROBBERY.

Three Desperadoes Rob an Express Messenger of $2,000.

PERR, Ind., Sept. 29.—The express train on the El River branch of the Wabash, St. Louis & Pacific railroad, bound west, was robbed of $2,000 in cash and other valuables. The three thieves before leaving the car robbed and gagged Bart Loomis, the messenger, and looked the doors of the car. He was not found until the train reached this place. He was removed to his boarding house, where he now lies, suffering from injuries received. Two men were arrested in Loganport on suspicion by Sheriff Parks. When the thieves entered the car Loomis paid no attention to them until they demanded him to show up his bag, and in doing so he drew his revolver and fired one shot without effect. They returned the shot and grabbed him, tearing his clothes from his person. During the scuffle Loomis tore the mask from one of the bandits, and describes him as being five feet eight inches in height, with light complexion, dark hair and a very heavy mustache. His weight was about 170 pounds. The other two he could not describe. Detectives are in pursuit of the men and making arrests all along the line.

A Case of Necessity.

BEAUFORT, N. Y., Sept. 29.—The Buffalo Courier, whose proprietor, Mr. C. A. C. is one of the rising powers of the Democracy in this state, has been notified by the convention that if it is defeated in 1884 the party can not probably survive 1885. "If beaten in that contest," it says, "it is not certain that our organization will survive long enough to put a presidential candidate in the field in 1888. There is a limit even to Democratic pluck and perseverance in the face of disaster. To victory the coming national contest success in New York is almost essential, and to insure success in the state next year we need harmony, enthusiasm and the prestige of success now."

Veterans Afraid of Sham Battles.

MARYVILLE, Mo., Sept. 29.—At a business meeting of the veterans of southwest Iowa and northwestern Missouri it was decided that because of the fatal accident of yesterday, sham battles should be discontinued at future reunions. The surplus revenue of the present meeting, amounting to $400, will be devoted to the family of Snell, the veteran killed.

The Colored Men.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 29.—The national colored men's executive committee met after the adjournment of the convention and organized by the election of W. A. Pledger, of Georgia, as chairman, and George W. Arnold, of Virginia, as secretary. The object of the committee is to carry out the principles enunciated in the address of the convention.

Vandervoort's Case.

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 29.—Paul Vandervoort, late chief clerk of the western division of the railway mail service at Omaha, who was removed for inattention to business, called upon First Assistant Postmaster General Hutton. Upon the return of Postmaster General Creighton he will make a personal appeal for reinstatement.
